

Sheila Ronning, Founder of Women in the Boardroom™

- Sheila Ronning is the Founder of Women in the Boardroom™, a professional membership organization that provides C-suite and senior level executive women with the tools, knowledge and connections to prepare them for corporate board service.
- Originally from Minnesota, Sheila began her career as a retail executive before establishing a marketing and PR agency focused on small businesses. She grew this agency into the largest networking and trade show organization for small businesses in the Twin Cities.
- Sheila once again broke the mold in 2002 with the launch of Women in the Boardroom™, by being the first person to form an organization with customized executive training programs, networking opportunities, and giving members the opportunity to build true connections, Sheila successfully created a proven program and process for women to enter board service. Because of her efforts in this space, she is considered a pioneer in the industry by her peers.
- Since its founding, Sheila has grown Women in the Boardroom™ into an organization with international outreach across multiple industries, and within countless public and private boardrooms, including Fortune 100 companies. In doing so, she has created more than 2,000+ connections for its members.
- As a recognized and respected thought leader on becoming a board member, gender diversity within the corporate sphere, and effective networking practices, Sheila speaks numerous times per year. (See just some of her speaking engagements below)
- Sheila's insights have been featured in numerous news outlets including ForbesWomen, The Washington Post, The Wall Street Journal, Fox Business, Fast Company, The Huffington Post, and Forbes.com, among many others.
